

CONTRIBUTORS/COLLABORATEURS

ROSEMARIE LANGHOUT is a PhD candidate in the Department of History at the University of New Brunswick. She has studied at Memorial University and at Carleton University and has presented papers to the Business History Conference at Trent University in 1984 and the Atlantic Canada Studies Conference at Saint Mary's University in 1985. Originaire d'Abram-Village, Ile-du-Prince-Edouard, GEORGES ARSENAULT est professeur invité en Etudes acadiennes à University of Prince Edward Island. Après des études post-secondaires à l'Université de Moncton et l'Université Laval, il a publié les Complaintes acadiennes de l'Ile-du-Prince-Edouard (1980). HENRY ROPER is Associate Professor of Humanities and Vice-President, University of King's College, Halifax. His earlier work on Halifax politics has appeared in the Collections of the Royal Nova Scotia Historical Society. A member of the Department of History and deputy director in the Office of Research at Memorial University, MALCOLM MACLEOD has published widely on Newfoundland history, including a book, Nearer Than Neighbours: Newfoundland and Canada before Confederation (1982). JEAN-FRANÇOIS BRIÈRE is a member of the Department of French at the State University of New York at Albany. His work has appeared in Histoire sociale/Social History, the Canadian Historical Review and the Revue d'histoire de l'Amérique française. ALICE R. STEWART is Professor Emerita of History at the University of Maine, Orono and an honorary life member of the Atlantic Association of Historians. JAMES B. VICKERY is past president of the Bangor Historical Society and editor of The Journals of John Edwards Godfrey of Bangor, Maine, 1863-1877. EDWARD S. KELLOGG is a reference librarian at the University of Southern Maine Library, Portland. A member of the Maritime History Group at Memorial University, LEWIS R. FISCHER has spent the last year as a visiting professor at the University of Bergen, Norway. An archivist at the Public Archives of Canada, MARIANNE MCLEAN has studied at the University of Montreal, Carleton University and Edinburgh University, where she completed a PhD thesis on Highland emigration to British North America. Directeur du département d'histoire de l'Université d'Ottawa, FERNAND OUELLET est auteur de nombreuses études en histoire économique et sociale, y compris Le Bas-Canada: changements structureaux et crise, 1791-1840 (1976) et l'Histoire économique et sociale du Québec (1760-1850) (1966). C. MARK DAVIS has taught history at the University of New Brunswick and Mount Allison University; he is completing a PhD thesis for McMaster University on temperance and prohibition movements in the Maritimes. A member of the Department of Political Science at the University of British Columbia, PHILIP RESNICK is the author of The Land of Cain: Class and Nationalism in English Canada, 1945-1975 (1977) and Parliament vs. People: An Essay on Democracy and Canadian Political Culture (1984).