

CONTRIBUTORS

David Charters is Deputy Director of the Centre for Conflict Studies and Executive Editor of Conflict Quarterly. He is a graduate of the University of New Brunswick and received his Ph.D. in War Studies from King's College, University of London.

Richard Cox graduated from Saint Catherine's College, Oxford in 1955 and later became foreign correspondent for the Sunday Times. Between 1964 and 1966 he served as a first secretary in the British Diplomatic Service, returning to journalism as defence correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. His first novel was published in 1974 and he is now a full-time author. Titles include SAM 7, The Botticelli Madonna, The Time it Takes and The KGB Connection.

James Fraser is a Lieutenant-Colonel in the U.S. Army, and is currently Chief, Department of Security Operations and course manager of the counterterrorism course at the U.S. Army Military Police School. He received the Master of Administration of Justice Degree from Wichita State University and is internationally recognised for counterterrorism training of military and civilian personnel.

Dr. Martin McCauley is Lecturer in Russian and Soviet Institutions at the School of Slavonic and East European Studies, University of London. He is the author of Marxism-Leninism in the German Democratic Republic: The Socialist Unity Party (SED) and East Germany: The Dilemmas of Division, and is both the editor of and a contributor to Communist Power in Europe 1944-1949. Dr. McCauley's most recent book, The Soviet Union Since 1917, is forthcoming and he is currently engaged in research on the history and contemporary politics of East Germany.

Richard Shultz is Assistant Professor of Politics at the Catholic University of America and is Research Associate at the National Strategy Information Center.

Brent L. Smith received his PhD in Sociology from Purdue University and currently is Assistant Professor of Criminal Justice and Sociology at the University of Alabama in Birmingham. In addition to his research interests in terrorism, he is examining victimization and attitudinal data from rural victimization survey. Previous publications have appeared in Urban Affairs Quarterly, Journal of Criminal Justice and other scholarly journals.