

CONTRIBUTORS

Dr. G. P. Armstrong is Head, War Game Methodology Section in the Directorate of Land Operational Research, National Defence Headquarters; Ottawa. He received a B.A. in philosophy from the University of Toronto in 1969 and a PhD. in war studies at King's College, University of London, England in 1976.

Sava D. Bosnitch is a graduate of the University of Belgrade and McGill University (Montreal), receiving his PhD. from the latter institution in 1960. Currently, he is a professor of Political Science at the University of New Brunswick.

David Charters is Deputy Director at the Centre for Conflict Studies.

Jack Child is Associate Professor of Spanish and Latin Studies at The American University, Washington, D.C. He received his PhD. in international relations of Latin American from The American University in 1978, and is the author of Unequal Alliance: the Inter-American Military System, 1938-1978. He served in the U.S. Army as a Latin American area specialist for twenty-two years before retiring as a lieutenant colonel in 1980.

George Miller is a research officer at the Institute for European Defence and Strategic Studies. He has held this post since the completion of his M.A. thesis on Local Soviet Decision Making. Mr. Miller has written on a wide range of Soviet matters for Soviet Analyst, the Daily Telegraph, The Guardian and other journals.

Dr. H. Bruno Schiefer, a graduate of the University of Munich, is currently Director of the newly established Toxicology Research Centre at the University of Saskatchewan. His research interests include animal diseases in general, with especial emphasis on diseases due to fungi and on pulmonary pathology. For the last twelve years he has worked on toxicological problems, particularly mycotoxins.