

CONTRIBUTORS

David A. Charters is Deputy Director of the Centre for Conflict Studies.

G.M.E. Leistner has been director of the Africa Institute of South Africa, an autonomous research and information service functioning on behalf of all South African population groups since 1978. His principal interest is socio-economic development in Africa.

Amadu Sesay is a lecturer in the Department of International Relations at the University of Ife, Nigeria. He has had articles published in such journals as Politique Africaine and Plural Societies. Dr. Sesay would like to acknowledge the assistance of Dr. R.I. Onwuka in preparing this paper for Conflict Quarterly.

Stephen Sloan is a member of the Department of Political Science at the University of Oklahoma in Norman, Oklahoma. Author of Stimulating Terrorism, he is on the Advisory Board of Conflict Quarterly.

Wesley K. Wark is a Visiting Lecturer at McGill University in Montreal. Intelligence and intelligence collection, both historical and current, are among his fields of interest.

William L. Waugh, Jr., is an assistant professor of political science at Kansas State University. His major interests are public policy analysis, public administration, program evaluation and political conflict. Author of International Terrorism: How Nations Respond to Terrorists (1982), he is currently working on a book-length study of national urban politics and the potential for urban violence.