

CONTRIBUTORS

Richard Dale is Associate Professor of Political Science at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois. In 1984-85 Dr. Dale was a visiting professor in the School of International Studies at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Mary C. FitzGerald attended a Soviet high school in Moscow. Currently an analyst at the Center for Naval Analyses, she is also completing her doctoral work at Georgetown University. Her forthcoming book is entitled The New Revolution in Soviet Military Affairs.

André Kuczewski is with the Department of Administration and Policy Studies at McGill University. He works and writes on various aspects of international affairs.

James B. Motley is Director, National Security Studies at Defense Systems Inc., in McLean, Virginia. A Vietnam veteran, Dr. Motley received his Ph.D. from Catholic University and has published widely on various aspects of low-intensity conflict.

Dennis Pluchinsky is the European analyst in the Threat Analysis Division of the Bureau of Diplomatic Security in the U.S. Department of State.

Sheldon W. Simon is Director of the Center for Asian Studies at Arizona State University. He is a graduate of Princeton and the University of Minnesota. He has published extensively on Asian affairs, including The ASEAN States and Regional Security (Hoover Institution Press, 1982).