

Notice/Avis

Conférence

La recherche sur la culture matérielle en Amérique du Nord: nouveaux objectifs, nouvelles théories

Dans l'attente d'un financement, le Winterthur Museum et la Memorial University of Newfoundland vont coparrainer une conférence internationale intitulée: «La recherche sur la culture matérielle en Amérique du Nord: nouveaux objectifs, nouvelles théories». Cette rencontre se déroulera à St John's (Terre-Neuve) du 19 au 21 juin 1986, et rassemblera les plus grands spécialistes du Canada et des États-Unis. Voici quelques-uns des thèmes qui seront traités en comité:

- Théories de la culture matérielle: emprunt ou nouveauté?
- L'objet façonné: structure et communication
- Les dimensions politiques et économiques de l'objet
- L'objet façonné nous apprend-il quelque chose de nouveau?
- La signification des objets aux yeux du public: musées, collectionneurs, organismes gouvernementaux
- Objets de travail, objets au travail
- Perspectives d'avenir de la recherche en culture matérielle

Les personnes suivantes participeront à la conférence: Kenneth Ames, Winterthur Museum; Jeanne Cannizzo, University of Western Ontario; Ann Gorman Condon, University of New Brunswick; Jean-Claude Dupont, Université Laval; Michael Ettema, Smithsonian Institution; Henry Glassie, University of Pennsylvania; Alan Gowans, University of Victoria; Bernard Herman, University of Delaware; Deryck Holdsworth, University of Toronto; Adrienne Hood, Musée royal de l'Ontario; Michael Owen Jones, UCLA; George MacDonald, Musée national de l'Homme; Eugene Metcalf, Miami University; Del Muise, Carleton University; Jules Prown, Yale University; D.-T. Ruddel, Musée national de l'Homme; Brian Rusted, Memorial University; Robert St. George, Boston University; Thomas Schlereth, Notre Dame University; Edwina Taborsky, York University; Lynn Teather, University of Toronto; Dell Upton, University of California; John Vlach, George Washington University.

Pour obtenir de plus amples renseignements à ce sujet, veuillez vous adresser à:

Gerald L. Pocius
Department of Folklore
Memorial University of Newfoundland
St John's (Terre-Neuve)
A1C 5S7
Canada

Conference Announcement

North American Material Culture Research: New Objectives, New Theories

Pending funding, Winterthur Museum and Memorial University of Newfoundland will be co-sponsoring an international conference on "North American Material Culture Research: New Objectives, New Theories." This gathering will be held in St. John's, Newfoundland, June 19-21, 1986, and will bring together leading material culture researchers from Canada and the United States. Panel topics will include:

Theories of Material Culture: Something Borrowed or Something New?
The Artifact: Structure and Communication
The Political and Economic Dimensions of the Object
Does the Artifact Reveal Anything New?
The Meaning of Objects to the Public: Museums, Collectors, Government Agencies
Working Objects, Objects at Work
The Future of Material Culture Research

Participants include: Kenneth Ames, Winterthur Museum; Jeanne Cannizzo, University of Western Ontario; Ann Gorman Condon, University of New Brunswick; Jean-Claude Dupont, Université Laval; Michael Ettema, Smithsonian Institution; Henry Glassie, University of Pennsylvania; Alan Gowans, University of Victoria; Bernard Herman, University of Delaware; Deryck Holdsworth, University of Toronto; Adrienne Hood, Royal Ontario Museum; Michael Owen Jones, UCLA; George MacDonald, National Museum of Man; Eugene Metcalf, Miami University; Del Muise, Carleton University; Jules Prown, Yale University; D.-T. Ruddel, National Museum of Man; Brian Rusted, Memorial University; Robert St. George, Boston University; Thomas Schlereth, Notre Dame University; Edwina Taborsky, York University; Lynn Teather, University of Toronto; Dell Upton, University of California; John Vlach, George Washington University.

To receive further information about the conference contact:

Gerald L. Pocius
Department of Folklore
Memorial University of Newfoundland
St. John's, Newfoundland
A1C 5S7
Canada