

Contributors

Collaborateurs

CHRISTOPHER ANDREAE is Director of the Society for Industrial Archaeology, Director of the Ontario Historical Society, and President of Historica Research Ltd in London, Ontario.

PETER BISCHOFF est professeur au département d'histoire de l'Université d'Ottawa. Il poursuit des recherches sur les fonderies canadiennes et leurs travailleurs de métier aux XIX^e et XX^e siècles, et a publié de nombreux articles sur le sujet.

RANDALL BROOKS is Curator of Physical Sciences and Space at the National Museum of Science and Technology in Ottawa.

DUNCAN CAMERON, a Director Emeritus of the Glenbow Museum in Calgary, is a widely published museologist.

JOHN E. CARTER, Curator of Photographs at the Nebraska State Historical Society in Lincoln, is the author of Solomon D. Butcher: Photographing the American Dream, and Eyewitness at Wounded Knee.

MICHELLE COMEAU est chargée de cours en histoire à l'Université du Québec à Montréal et à l'Université du Québec à Hull.

JEFFERSON G. DAVIS is the archivist for the Hockey Hall of Fame in Toronto.

ADRIENNE HOOD is a curator in the Textile Department at the Royal Ontario Museum since 1984. In July she will leave her post at the ROM to join the History Department at the University of Toronto.

LINDA HUTCHEON is Professor of English and Comparative Literature at the University of Toronto.

HELGE KONGSRUD is a full time archivist at the National Archives in Oslo.

PHILIPPE MAURICE is President of Philmsearch IV Inc. and a specialist in the preventive care of photographic materials.

LARRY MCNALLY is a Science and Engineering Archivist in the Manuscript Division at the National Archives of Canada in Ottawa.

GILLIAN NAYLOR is Visiting Professor of Design History at the Royal College of Art, in London.

JAMES NAYLOR teaches history at Brandon University and is the author of several studies of social conflict in Canada after World War I.

SHARON REILLY is Associate Curator of History and Technology at the Manitoba Museum of Man and Nature in Winnipeg.

DONALD SWAINSON, Professor of History at Queen's University in Kingston, is a specialist in the history of the Prairies and of Ontario, and in Canadian politics.

STEVE PRYSTUPA is Prairie Historian at the Canadian Museum of Civilization in Hull.

SYLVANA VILLATA est conseillère responsable des communautés culturelles et des médias ethniques au Cabinet du Service de la culture de la Ville de Montréal et membre des comités organisateurs des expositions internationales.