

The Editor welcomes the submission of manuscripts, in either English or French. Authors are required to submit an abstract of approximately 100 words.

- 1) Articles should be submitted in hard copy and in electronic format, using WordPerfect 8 or higher, or MS Word.
- 2) Articles should not normally exceed 10,000-12,000 words. The journal uses endnotes rather than footnotes.
- 3) Since the journal is interdisciplinary, contributors may use the citation method usual for the discipline concerned.
- 4) Spelling follows Canadian norms. In case of uncertainty, contributors should consult The Canadian Oxford Dictionary.
- 5) Authors are responsible for obtaining copyright clearances where applicable.
- 6) When an article has been accepted for publication, the author will be asked to make the text conform to the house style, and to sign a consent to publish form. Copyright will rest with the journal.
