

Note from the Editor

During this unprecedented and uncertain time, the editorial team at Newfoundland and Labrador Studies has had to make some changes to the 2020 journal.

COVID-19 has negatively impacted people's ability to conduct research but has also exerted additional pressures with the shift to online learning and in caring for loved ones. These and other factors have resulted in fewer submissions to Newfoundland and Labrador Studies.

Therefore, in 2020, we are publishing a single volume (Vol 35, issue 1 & 2) instead of our typical spring and fall issues. It is anticipated that production will return to pre-COVID levels in spring 2021. Although justifiable (and beyond our control), we apologize for any inconvenience this has caused to contributors, subscribers, and loyal readers. Current subscribers will be given the 2021 issues at no additional cost.

On behalf of the editorial team and NLS board members, we thank you for your patience and continued support.

Barry Gaulton

Editor, Newfoundland and Labrador Studies

October 2020

Contents

The Newfoundland Tempest: Theatre of the Cultural Revival, the LSPU Hall, and Shakespeare 7

ROBERT ORMSBY AND MICHELLE KING

Newfoundland and the Trade of North Devon Ports in the Seventeenth Century 51

JOHN BRADBEER

Research Note

“. . . the Fishing Room and Meddow Gardens and Meddow Ground”: Landownership at the Cupids Cove Plantation, 1610–2010 77

WILLIAM GILBERT

Document

“So many people in the wrong place”: Edward Hale’s Account of His 1936 Visit to Newfoundland 103

MELVIN BAKER AND PETER NEARY

Book Reviews

Carol Bishop-Gwyn. Art and Rivalry: The Marriage of Mary and Christopher Pratt. 139

JEFF A. WEBB

Raymond B. Blake and Melvin Baker. Where Once They Stood: Newfoundland's Rocky Road towards Confederation.	142
RAINER BAEHRE
Catherine Bush. Blaze Island.	147
OLIVIA ROBINSON
James E. Candow. The Invisibles: A History of the Royal Newfoundland Companies.	149
CHRISTIAN BELLOWS
Gary Collins. The Place.	152
CHELSEY LUSH
Terry Doyle. Dig.	154
MELANIE HURLEY
Larry Matthews. An Exile's Perfect Letter.	159
JOHNATHAN H. POPE
Susie Taylor. Even Weirder Than Before.	162
NATHAN R. ELLIOT
Tshaukuesh Elizabeth Penashue. Nitinikiau Innusi: I Keep the Land Alive. Edited by Elizabeth Yeoman.	166
MAURA HANRAHAN
Leslie Vryenhoek. We All Will Be Received.	171
NATHAN R. ELLIOT	