

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

As was the case with previous volumes in this series, we would like to extend our thanks to the Canadian Security and Intelligence Service (CSIS) for their permission to reprint these documents. In addition, we would like to acknowledge the legal work of William Kaplan of the University of Ottawa who has aided us immensely with both his legal and historical knowledge.

In addition, we owe a debt of gratitude to a number of archivists at the National Archives of Canada (NAC) who have provided expert advice over the years; our thanks to Danny Moore, Peter DeLottinville, Judith Roberts Moore, and Gerry O'Brien. Thanks also to Glenn Wright of the RCMP Historical Section for help with the photograph.

On the production side we would like to thank Margaret Gulliver, Sheila Silver, and Joan Butler for their keyboarding talents and above all for their patience. Proofreaders and indexers for the project have included Christina Burr, Michael Butt, Sean Cadigan, John Hample, Robert Hong, Mark Leier, Martin Lobigs, and Bonnie Morgan. As always Irene Whitfield has overseen the project with enthusiasm and diligence. Thanks also to John Manley of Critical and Historical Studies, University of Central Lancashire, for his useful introduction.

For details on the nature of CSIS deletions and the editorial apparatus used to indicate them, please see the "Preface" to Kealey and Whitaker, R.C.M.P. Security Bulletins: The War Series, 1939-1941 (St. John's, 1989), 7-8. Please keep in mind that the Bulletins are rendered here as we found them. Spelling and other errors are the responsibility of the RCMP.
