EM 3002

EM 3002 / QINSy

EM 3002 - the universal solution

EM 3002 is your universal shallow water mapping system for the future:

- accurate bathymetric surveys with the highest resolution available
- seabed characterisation through acoustic imaging of the seabed
- mapping of biomass and other objects in the water column

EM 3002 is a 300kHz multibeam echo sounder/sonar with:

- 254 / 508 soundings per ping
- dynamically focused beams
- high resolution beam processing
- all beams stabilized for roll and pitch

Instructions for Contributors

The International Hydrographic Review is an international journal published three times a year by GITC bv. It is sponsored by the International Hydrographic Organisation. It contains original papers concerning all aspects of hydrography and associated subjects. All articles are subjected to peer review and are expected to be 4,000 to 6,000 words long, although longer articles may be considered. It also provides a medium for discussions in the form of shorter Notes, that are typically 1,500 to 2,000 words in length.

Information on the layout of articles and the form of illustrations and references may be obtained by requesting 'Instructions to Authors' from the Editor. They are also published in the first issue of each year. Submissions should be sent to:
